Signs of Our Times . . .

The noise of lockers, gay greetings to new and old friends, classroom discussions . . . to us who attend Oakwood these are the signs of our times. Hours of study and the promotion of useful projects are signs of our work in classroom and club. The tension at a game and the diligent practice of our teams are both signs of our great interest in sports. Couples floating in a wonderland that was once the gym and our many "Y" activities show signs of a vigorous student life. These signs of WORK, PLAY, and FUN all point to our greatest year yet, 1959.

Class of '59 reaches goal and Entering into their highly exalted roles as leaders, the seniors began their last, and in many ways, their best year at Oakwood. From the first clamorous day of school in September until the long-awaited day in June, the class of '59 endured the many tests and themes together with the seemingly endless work that accompanies the senior year. But many exciting and fun-filled activities lightened their load as they eagerly assumed their newly acquired responsibility and superiority.

The annual Camp Kern Conference headed the long list of activities and outlined the program for the year's projects at the "Y". A successful football season and an impressive homecoming highlighted fall activities and decidedly united the class in school spirit. Outstanding costumes in Pride and Prejudice created a realistic atmosphere when the seniors staged their last production under the direction of Mrs. Wood.

No sooner had the work on the play been completed than plans were under way for the "Crystal Ball." Featuring a winter theme of snowflakes and sparkling castles, the prom created an atmosphere of holiday spirit.

Soon after Christmas vacation the seniors plunged into the ordeal of College Boards, Senior Scholarship Tests, and exams. The class made a fine showing of its scholastic ability this year with eight students participating as finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Tests while Byron Stuhlman, Irvin Bieser, Jerold Fink, and Martha Clegg took four of the top ten places in the county in the Senior Scholarship Tests. Also twenty-five seniors either placed or received Honorable Mention in the county in these tests—an outstanding achievement for the class.

Without time to recover from these tests, the exhausted seniors began their dreaded research themes and spent many tiring hours at the library. Plans for the class day began immediately after research themes, and all enthusiastically practiced their acts which created an unusual and spectacular show, "Manhattan Mariners," for their last project.

Finally the inevitable end of the year's activities arrived. Thoughts of baccalaureate and commencement were dominant in their minds. At last on June 8 the seniors were together for the last time experiencing one of the greatest moments in their lives—graduation.

Juniors

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS:
Ginni Miller, vice-president;
Franny McLennan, secretary;
Bert Corwin, president; and Judy Euchenbofer, treasurer.

The junior class, imaginative and energetic, displayed outstanding ability in both scholastic and extra-curricular activities this year.

Eighteen junior boys were members of the Varsity football team, and Jim Shively, Bruce Comisar, and Rooney Mereness were chosen to be members of the SWBL All-League team. Five boys played Varsity basketball while cheerleaders—Linda Lozar, Joy Ratliff, Virginia de Bruyn Kops, and alternate Ann Ryder—cheered both teams on to successful seasons.

Bringing honor to the class were Virginia de Bruyn Kops, who won the District Prince of Peace finals; and five girls who painted the winning Halloween mural at Town and Country. Rounding out an eventful year were the prom, "Pink Champagne"; the play, Nuts in May; and the Beachcombers' Ball.

Sophomores

Although they were newcomers to the senior high this year, the sophomores entered enthusiastically into their studies and many extracurricular activities.

Susie Craig, Kitty Beth Boren, Ellen Pinnell, Kathy O'Brian, Mary Moeller, and Dottie Corwin were members of the newly-formed girls' ensemble, and many members of the class participated in the senior high choir and glee clubs.

In the field of sports Mike Walters and Bart Bartholomew sparked the varsity football team, and many boys were on the reserve football and basketball teams. Cheerleaders—Susie Craig, Dathy Clarkson, Judy McInnes, Kitty Beth Boren, E. J. Prugh, and alternate Kitty Evans—added pep and enthusiasm at all the basketball games. The girls practiced for many hours after school and perfected dozens of cheers and the splits.

Many sophomore girls were active in the new GAA. Mary Beth Parkin was social chairman; Kitty Evans, secretary-treasurer; and Ellen Pinnell, sophomore point secretary. Barbara Williams was a valuable member of the varsity basketball team, and Mary Moeller substituted. Playing reserve basketball were Judy Wasmuth, Barbara Ausbeck, Kathy O'Brian, Lila Yates, Judy McInnes, Kitty Evans, and Nancy Maharg. Many of the girls also played reserve hockey.

On April 3 the sophomores gave their first prom, "Bali-Hai". Co-chairmen for the event were Kris Olson and Doug Almoney. In addition to the prom there were three sophomore Junior Assembly dances; two at the Dayton Women's Club, the other at the Biltmore Hotel.

NHS sparks scholastic achievements

SELLING SCHOOL SUPPLIES, N. H. S. Officers—Sue Ardery, secretary; Linda Vosmer, auditor; Sue Young, vice-president; Sue Brundige, auditor; and Dave Teegarden, president—help to keep the club self-supporting.

On October 29 twenty-four new members—nine seniors and fifteen juniors—were inducted into the National Honor Society. At an impressive ceremony in the auditorium, these new members, as well as the entire senior high assembly, learned the meaning of the standards of the society—citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and character.

Meetings were held throughout the year on every other Wednesday during the lunch period. Miss Page, adviser, did a wonderful job in lending her wisdom, advice, and help. Officers for the year were Dave Teegarden, president; Sue Young, vice-president; Sue Ardery, secretary; Linda Vosmer and Sue Brundige, auditors.

As has been the custom in the past, members of the society have taken turns during the lunch hour selling school supplies in the store. On December 29 the annual Christmas Tea was held at the home of Dave Teegarden on Patterson Road. The final function of the year was a farewell picnic held for the seniors.

Lighted candles and solemn ceremony were part of the induction of Quill and Scroll members. The twelve initiated members were Robin Alexander, Ned Allen, Sue Ardery, Karen Blue, Sue Brundige, Sue Dils, Judy Euchenhofer, Barb Hassink, Helen Houston, Skip Kunst, Maureen McDonald, and Margy Todd. Mimi McCray, Linda Wilson, and Sue Young, last year's members, conducted the ritual by speaking about truth, loyalty, enlightenment, opportunity, leadership, initiative, and friendship in connection with good journalism.

Stiff requirements make the club an honorary one. Members must be in the upper third of their class and have exhibited superior journalistic ability.

Officers were Ned Allen, president; Sue Dils, vice-president; and Robin Alexander, secretary-treasurer. Planning activities, Linda Wilson, program chairman, and her committees presented interesting meetings every other Thursday. The club had speakers from the Dayton Daily News and Journal Herald. The members also took a very interesting tour through the Dayton Daily News and saw all the work that goes into the paper.

Student Councils promote projects

Under the able leadership of Fred Setzer, president, the Oakwood Senior Student Council helped solve student problems and promoted many worthwhile school projects throughout the year. As counselor and adviser, Mr. Runkel gave invaluable guidance to the council. Other officers were Bob Judd, vice-president; Nancy Thiele, secretary; and Judy Euchenhofer, treasurer.

The United Drive was set up and conducted by the council. Another highlight of the year was the Homecoming Dance. Once again honor study halls were set up, this year including the ninth graders. As a money-making project the council sold social calendars.

The Junior High Student Council met each week with its adviser, Mr. McGowan. Officers were Steve Chappell, president; Pete Willsey, vice-president; and Bill Brundige, secretary.

Girls' League fosters close kinship

Dedicated to serve the school and better the relationship of all senior high girls, the Girls' League successfully completed its year with a calendar of both new and traditional events.

A luncheon for all new girls inaugurated the fall program. At Christmas the league added festive touches by decorating trees for the hall and library. To top the pre-holiday festivities, a Christmas dinner was held for all faculty women and league members.

Reversing all dating customs, the spring Turn-a-Bout dance was a big success. The delightful spring tea for members and their mothers and the annual Big Sister Party for forthcoming sophomore girls climaxed the year. Other projects were collecting clothes to be sent to Kentucky and supporting the exchange student.

The Girls' League planned its activities with a capable group of officers consisting of Mary Alice Hongen, president; Donna Hinton, vice-president and treasurer; and Susie Craig, secretary. Miss Hadel, was the adviser.

J C O W A encourages world brotherhood

Meetings of the Junior Council on World Affairs were under the leadership of Linda Vosmer, president; Howie Fogt, vice-president; Mary Alice Hongen, secretary; Bert Corwin, treasurer; Nancy Allen, JCRA representative; and Mr. Kuhns, adviser. Members learned about countries, geographically and historically, through slides of Europe presented by Mrs. Charles Clegg and through interesting speakers, Mr. Marshall

Stross and Mrs. Julia Blanchard.

In November several students attended the Affairs Institute and in February participated in the Model General Assembly. The highlight of the year was the trip to Washington and New York. Twenty-two Oakwood students participated and returned with many exciting experiences to relate. An interesting year was ended with the annual International Smorgasbord.

Artists show talent with pen and brush

With the adoption of a new constitution, the Pen and Brush Club became an official school organization. It had previously existed without this constitution which set higher standards for membership. In the future every student, ninth through twelfth grade, whether in art or not, will be eligible for membership, based on points gained through art projects and contests.

In addition to winning many awards in the National Scholastic Art Contest, Pen and Brush directed the painting of the mural in the cafeteria. Under the leadership of Tom Wasmuth, president; E. J. Prugh, vice-president; Don Kepler, secretary; Kris Stump, treasurer; and Mr. Carmichael, adviser; the club held its annual field trip, organized various art service projects, and promoted better art standards throughout the school.

PLANNING FOR FUTURE CONTESTS, N F L OFFICERS, Charles Simpson; historian; Mary Altick, president; Abby Griffith, president; Bar Hassink, secretary; and Bob Mitchell, treasurer, promote active interest in speech work.

Under the direction of Mr. Stevens, adviser; Abby Griffith, president; Mary Altick, vice-president; Bar Hassink, secretary; Bob Mitchell, treasurer; and Charlie Simpson, historian; the National Forensic League had a very busy year.

The long line of contests started in October with the annual Prince of Peace practice tournament held at Oakwood. Besides contestants from area schools Oakwood had a hundred and fifty-eight students participating. Later in the actual contest Virginia deBruyn Kops and Mary Moeller qualified to go to the state semi-finals. Although the girls didn't qualify for the state finals, they both received a trip to the UN.

Speech enthusiasts gave up their Saturday morning sleep to gain experiences in various contests from Cincinnati to Newark. In the N.F.L. district tournament and state finals, Jim Pinnell placed third in boys' extemp. As runner-up in the finals of an original oratory contest sponsored by the Dayton Fellowship Club, Linda Wilson was awarded an engraved desk set.

Another successful speech year was ended with the annual banquet and presentation of awards and trophies to the outstanding members.

With "Give unto others as you would have others give unto you" as its motto, the American Junior Red Cross worked on many worthwhile projects. They not only met great needs but also promoted greater understanding by their thoughtfulness, interest, and concern for unfortunate people throughout the world.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Russell, adviser; Marty Clegg, president; Judy Jones, vice-president; Linda Lozar, secretary; and Sue Prosser, treasurer; the organization had a calendar full of events. Their activities were divided into three groups—individual, school, and council.

Individual activities included the JRC Leadership Training Center at Camp Kern, which a few of the members attended last August; the Canteen Training classes; the Montgomery JRC and Senior Red Cross Rallies; and the services given by JRC members to the Veterans' Administration, to the State Hospital, and at the emergency shelters during the January floods.

The school also participated in various activities—the filling of 150 Red Cross gift boxes at Christmas time and the annual membership drive in the spring.

The council also worked hard with such projects as the selling of Red Cross book covers and the participation in the school chest program in which JRC sent a big chest filled with school, recreational, and health supplies to disaster areas.

Actors and actresses

Jane Austen's famous novel, Pride and Prejudice, adapted for the stage, was presented by the senior class November 21 and 22. The curtain rose to reveal a nineteenth century setting complete with Victorian furniture and costumes. Mrs. Signe Wood, director, was assisted by Patty Meneley and Steve Lorenz, student directors.

Poor harassed Mr. Bennet (Tom Frame) unfortunately could not control his household which was dominated by his flighty wife (Linda Wilson, Mimi McCray) and five daughters. His two sensible daughters, Elizabeth (Mary Altick, Mary Jo Connelly) and Jane (Abby Griffith, Karen Nielsen), endured many embarrassing situations brought on by their silly mother and equally foolish sisters. Crisis followed crisis from the time Catherine (Susan Prosser, Karen Blu) was not invited to Brighton until Lydia (Marve Ann Olsen, Cynthia Must) eloped. Little did Elizabeth dream that, despite all their problems, she would fall in love with haughty Mr. Darcy (Armin Buchter).

Nuts in May, a rollicking comedy, was presented by the junior class March 13 and 14. The play, written by Cornelia Otis Skinner, noted actress-author, was fast-moving and laugh-provoking. Mrs. Signe Wood directed the play. Student directors were Bar Hassink and Adrienne Ash.

Cornelia Otis Skinner (Sharon French, Margy Todd) had an opening night to face. Despite the good intentions of Alden, her husband (George Seldon, Bob Pavey), and a friend Isobel (Sue Spitler, Phyllis Haas), Cornelia's day was quite hectic. Because her son, Michael (Steve Carr, Bob Gaines) gave up dinosaurs for girls, poor Janice O'Neill (Barbara Parkin, Joy Ratliff) was caught in the middle. However, after all the misunderstandings had been cleared away, Cornelia's play was a success and all the critics, including terrifying Watson O'Neill (Dave Montgomery, Rick Johnson), praised it.

Sunny cheerleaders support teams,

"S-C-O-R-E!" Bouncing with energy, the varsity cheerleaders inspired the crowd and team to a winning season. Suzie Young, captain, Abby Griffith, Virginia de Bruyn Kops, Linda Lozar, Joy Ratliff, and Ann Ryder, substitute, were chosen in April, 1958, by a committee of presidents of senior high classes and clubs, the band director, coaches, captains, and the principal.

Keeping busy the girls organized all pep assemblies, wrote pep notes to the team before games, originated the "Pep-O-Gram" and put on a skit, "The Perils of a Cheerleader". At the end of football and basketball seasons, the cheerleaders presented senior members with honorary badges and scrolls. Before the Eaton football game they even sent the captain a telegram wishing the team good luck.

Honored at the football banquet in November, the girls were awarded letters. Later in the year, senior cheerleaders—Suzie Young and Abby Griffith—were presented with silver megaphone charms by the senior Hi-Y's while the Pep Band serenaded them.

Liveliness and enthusiasm characterized reserve cheerleaders. Chosen were Kitty Beth Boren, Dathy Clarkson, Susie Craig, Judy McInnes, E. J. Prugh, and Kitty Evans. The crowd eagerly responded to many new, lively cheers introduced by the girls. After school they practiced diligently, striving for perfect co-ordination and grace. The girls worked hard to instill good sportsmanship and enthusiastic spirit.

Receiving vigorous encouragement from their peppy cheerleaders—Karen Alexander, Paula Stone, Barbara Symroski, and Jane Thiele—the ninth grade basketball team again scored a winning season. The girls stimulated team support by filling the halls with posters, making booster tags for each game, and using pom-poms for more zest in their cheers. Practicing and planning, new cheers required time and energy.

Our Victory Bell, gift and main project of the Varsity "O" Club, now peals out glad news of winning games from the clock tower. One of the biggest projects ever undertaken at Oakwood, the bell was purchased with funds raised by selling Lumberjack stickers at basketball games, soliciting donations, and participating in a locally sponsored club money-making project.

Under the guidance of Mr. Carr and the able leadership of Skip Kunst, president; Dick Miller, vice-president; Dave King, treasurer; and Bob Herbruck, secretary, the club helped maintain order at football and basketball games and handed out paper megaphones to encourage participation in cheers. In the spring they planned a dance, Varsity "O" Drag IV, and the annual picnic.

To be eligible for membership, a boy must have received a letter in a major sport and have maintained passing grades throughout the year. All members are entitled to wear the traditional white sweaters with gold school letters.

Chess club outmaneuvers opponents

"It's your move" and "check mate" have been the sounds echoing from the industrial arts room every noon this past year. All this is the result of the interest of a group of students, who banded together to form Oakwood's chess club. Under the leadership of Mr. Cato, the club has accomplished its purpose of teaching interested students to learn and enjoy chess. This is shown by the club's increasing popularity.

Already fame has come to Oakwood through the ability of some of the club members. Jerry Fink represented Ohio at the Tri-State Junior Championship and copped the title, defeating players from Ohio, Virginia, Western Pennsylvania. John Phythyon was declared the 1959 Dayton Junior Champion. Out of a school tournament that was conducted by the club, a six-man team was chosen to compete in a city-wide interscholastic tournament.

Officers this year include Jerry Fink, president; Egon Kalmund, our new foreign exchange student from Germany, vice-president; and John Phythyon, treasurer.

During football season the senior band marched and played at the games, presenting such interesting and novel programs as a "Lights-Out" show featuring colored lights twinkling on caps and shoes, a parody on the chemise fashion, "Will the Sack Come Back?" and a calypso number. Doug Fritz was band captain.

John Gray and Terry Bennett were chosen to play in the Regional Orchestra. At the winter concert February 21 Doug Fritz and Linda Vosmer played solos. Walter Nielson and George McKinley received superior ratings at the Solo Contest March 7 in Xenia. After receiving top rating in the district band contest March 21, the senior band attended the State Contest, and took a one day tour in Indiana.

In honor of John P. Sousa, the band, under Mr. Frederick Walker, presented their spring concert May 10. For the final program, a Battle of Bands was held with Colonel White's band at the Lawn Fete.

Majorettes Barbara Gaunt, Lynda Lydic, Jackie Meneley, Melanie Miles, Linda Vosmer, and Drum Majorette Jane Fulkerson practiced every day after school with the band. They also took special lessons for seven weeks.

Although the Junior Band was organized later in the year, they played for a school assembly April 17. The band also entered the Junior High School Band Contest at Tecumseh April 18. Also the Junior Band played for the Band Parent Concert May 12. Both bands sponsored the Miami University Symphony Orchestra which played several arrangements for a special assembly.

Sparkling pep assemblies, the pep band aroused school spirit by playing Lumberjack fight songs and co-operating with the cheerleaders in many cheers. During the football season band members also played in the marching band. The pep band made its final appearance at the last home basketball game, February 14, when they serenaded the senior cheerleaders in a surprise half time ceremony.

Royalty reigns supreme

HOMECOMING QUEEN, Karen Blu.

A clear, crisp autumn night and a thrilling football game under the lights! Cheering crowds witnessed the 1958 Homecoming ceremonies on October 17. Five girls—Sue Ardery, Karen Blu, Judy Bosron, Abby Griffith, and Sue Young—had been chosen by the senior boys as candidates for queen. Five identical metallic blue Chevrolet convertibles driven by Irvin Bieser, Jerry Fink, Doug Fritz, Jerry Pitstick, and Byron Stuhlman carried the excited girls around the track at half time. As they crossed the field with their escorts—Ned Allen, Jay Back, Bob Crew, Fred Setzer, and Dave Teegarden—the band serenaded them.

When the most thrilling moment finally arrived, Allen Johnston, master of ceremonies, opened a sealed envelope and read the queen's name. Then football captain for the night Mike Runyon presented Karen Blu, the queen, with one dozen red roses, the crown, and a kiss. The court watched the rest of the game from special seats along the sideline.

Afterward at the Homecoming Dance held in the senior high gym, the girls were presented with their escorts from the football team—Bob Gebhart, Bob Jaeger, Dave King, Skip Kunst, and Randy Thrasher. Senior Hi-Y's gave the queen a silver bracelet. Co-chairmen Sue Ardery and Jay Back planned both the field ceremony and the dance.

A crowded gym, enthusiastic cheerleaders, and the expectant hush before the opening tip-off! The Oakwood Lumberjacks won the tip-off as well as the exciting game against Centerville, February 14. An all senior line-up started the last home basketball game.

Following the game, the Basket Ball was held at the "Y". Candidates for queen—Sue Ardery, Judy Bosron, Patty Meneley, Pam Miller, Linda Vosmer, and Marsha Wood—were escorted by the senior members of the basketball team—Jay Back, Bill Bippus, Dave King, Fred Setzer, Randy Thrasher, and Jerry Wenzke. After being crowned by Alan Hoffman and Sharon Jones, co-chairmen of the dance, the queen, Linda Vosmer, received the traditional kiss from the king, Dave King.

While seated in the huge red heart which served as a throne, Linda was given a silver bracelet by the senior Hi-Y's. The royal pair witnessed entertainment by various members of the court and audience. To create the Valentine atmosphere, the decorations committee hung red foil hearts on the walls and suspended a four-dimensional heart from the ceiling.

SENIOR PROM KING AND QUEEN—Bill Bippus and Nancy Thiele

Glittering murals of huge Christmas ornaments with silvery snow flakes and special blue lighting turned the senior high gym into a blue and silver fantasy land for the Senior prom, "Crystal Ball," December 23. With a shimmering castle for a throne, Bill Bippus and Nancy Thiele reigned as king and queen while Carole Lusk, Patty Meneley, Carol Stoner, Barbara Von Hoff, Jay Back, Tom Frame, Alan Hoffman, and Monte Schenck attended them. Maureen McDonald and Bill Boswell insured the success of the dance by their attention to details.

Pink, black, and white dominated the theme for the Junior prom, "Pink Champagne," November 26. Sophisticated boys in white ties and tails and pretty girls in pink skirts and blouses presented a dance directed by Mrs. Samuel Gibbons. Giant pink paper maché elephants decorated two murals while two machines filled the air with hundreds of iridescent bubbles. Bert Corwin and Joy Ratliff occupied the throne, a large top hat with white gloves. Attendants were Donna Hinton, Frannie McLennan, Ann Ryder, Sue Spitler, Jim Kennedy, Roy Kievit, Jim Pees, and Tom Stickle. Connie Kuhns and Bob Gaines served as co-chairmen.

"Y" motivates

Arranging meetings, money-making projects, and programs for Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs was the aim of the Presidents' Council. Advised by Mr. Gilbert Martin, the council promoted such service projects as the World Service Drive. Officers were Irvin Bieser, president; Carol Surdyk, vice-president; and Donna Hinton, secretary.

Having organized Camp Kern, the Youth Council chose co-chairmen for open houses and planned the remaining "Y" activities for the year. Under the advisership of Mrs. Frederick Nichols and Mrs. Wilbur Kennedy, the council selected Abby Griffith to head the annual membership drive. Presiding over the monthly meetings were Randy Thrasher, president; Bert Corwin, vice-president; and Donna Hinton, secretary-treasurer.

wholesome activities

Once again buses loaded early in the morning on September 20 at the "Y" to carry eager sophomores, juniors, and seniors to Camp Kern where they exchanged ideas for improving the community, the "Y" and the school. Sue Young and Bob Gebhart organized the day and chose discussion leaders. Many of these ideas have been carried into effect, such as having two proms a year instead of three and allowing freshmen to attend the sophomore prom. Following the morning discussion lunch was served in the huge dining hall where songs and laughter filled the air. Two more discussions were held after lunch and after dinner with free periods for recreation. In the evening the solemn candlelight ceremony was held indoors on account of rain.

In order to raise money for World Service, the Delta Tri-Hi-Y sponsored a turnabout dance on March 20 for all junior girls. Decorations were based on a western theme with a covered wagon for the snack bar and colorful boots and wagon wheels decorating the walls. Costumes were not required but many added to the at-

Filled with enthusiastic ideas, the Acorn staff, under the direction of Miss Campbell, began last summer to plan the task of recording a year's activities. Meetings were held to decide the theme and general plan of the book. When school began, flash bulbs popped and pencils flew as the staff, led by co-editors Linda Wilson and Mimi McCray, rushed to meet deadlines. The staff studied news writing while they anxiously awaited the result of their long hours of work.

Aggressive jacks compile 7-2 record

Oakwood's gridders of 1958 supplied fans with some explosive, hard knocking football while compiling a strong 7-2 record. Superbly coached by Mr. Wysocki, assisted by Mr. Armbruster, this team refused to give up even though crippled by injuries to key players. The 'Jacks brought honor to Oakwood when they secured third place in the SWBL.

Pre-season reports touted this team as loaded with great potential and experience. Early season thinking was influenced by Oakwood's overwhelming victories over Colonel White, Northridge, and Kiser in pre-season scrimmages. As a final warm-up for the season, host Oakwood was defeated by Randolph 6-0 in the SWBL premiere.

Comisar plunged over for the other score. In the second half the 'Jacks' offense was nil. Trotwood's Geoffrey Arthur sprinted through the 'Jack's defense for the final score. After this game Pinnell and Neal were out for the season because of broken legs. Bartholomew was out indefinitely.

The clash between co-leaders Eaton and Oakwood proved to be an important league game. The 'Jacks jumped to an 18-0 half-time lead as Comisar tossed to Wenzke for 1 TD. King barreled through for 2 TD plunges of 1 yard each. In the second-half Eaton's explosive offense began to click. Mike Randall completed passes to Brower and Frantz for 2 TDs. Ron Dowlar's romp was sandwiched in between. Fumbles and injuries plagued the Lumberjacks in the second half.

West Milton 23

Oakwood returned to their winning ways at the ex-

An injury-riddled Oakwood eleven was shutout by Tipp City's two first-half touchdowns. Tipp's Goldner and Rohr tallied in the second quarter to cap the night's scoring. A fired up Lumberjack team rolled up 178 yards in a valiant second half effort.

After a lackadaisical first-half, Oakwood came from behind to trounce Vandalia on Dad's Night. The Aviators, capitalizing on Oakwood's miscues, scored after a 98 yard drive. Wenzke's 3 touchdowns clinched the SWBL individual scoring title for him. This victory gave Oakwood a 5-2 record in the league.

Coached by Mr. Armbruster, the reserves scored victories over Trotwood, West Milton, and West Carrollton. They tied Randolph and lost to Eaton.

The annual football banquet was held in the school library. Dave King was chosen as honorary captain for the 1958 season. sity prospects were noted. The team, coached by Mr. Carr, registered 10 victories and 7 losses.

At the basketball banquet held in the school library top scorer Phil Munger was named the most valuable player. Munger was also a unanimous choice for the All League first team and Bill Bippus was placed on the second team. The two top teams in each league, the American and the National, played each other in the tournament. By edging out Skip Kunst's team in an overtime, Alan Hoffman's club advanced to the finals. Also gaining the finals was Steve Johnson's team via a win over Don Vandenberg's ball club.

Trailing at the half in the playoff, Hoffman's team fought back to force a deadlock late in the contest. Hoffman's ball club began rolling as they downed Johnson's team 21-18 to win the championship. Winning team members received medals for their fine accomplishment.

Cindermen in quest

Oakwood's thinclads underwent rugged training and soon posed as a top contender for the league championship. In his first year as track coach Mr. Carr was greeted by an experienced team that lost only two letterman from last year's squad.

Talent was well distributed in all events. The hurdles were dominated by Tom Casey. In the distances Bob Lawson, Bill Bippus, Craig Butcher, Bob Brundige, and Steve Carr were outstanding contenders. Bart Bartholomew, Phil Munger, and Skip Kunst were threats in the 100-yard dash. Running the 220 and 440 were Chuck Slicer, Irvin Bieser, and Mike Holz. Kunst was top pole vaulter with Egon Kalmund racking up points in the broad jump. High jump honors were divided between Dave King and Munger. Leading the discuss and shot-put events were King, Jerry Wenzke, Demetri Preonas, Dick Miller, Denny Williams, and Bert Smith. Members of the 880 relay team were Bob Stutz, Slicer, Munger, and Jim Griffith. The mile relay men were Wenzke, Bartholomew, King, and Munger.

Hoping to top last year's record of three wins and four losses, the tracksters faced a ten meet schedule in addition to the SWBL meet, Madison Relays, and Troy Relays. In their first meet Oakwood edged out Eaton 62 1/3 to 55 2/3 and next tromped Vandalia 90 to 28.

Lumberjacks excel on the diamond

Booming bats and intense action ushered in the baseball season with a flourish. A host of talent met Coach Armbruster for pre-season drills. The team displayed fine potential in a pre-season game with Wilbur Wright.

Competition was strong as players battled for their favorite position. Veteran hurlers, Jay Back and Tom Scott, were backed up by Bob Gaines, Monte Schenck, and Dave White. Catching chores were distributed among three talented players—Phil Geiger, Bob Judd, and Mike Jones. Jed Damuth, Fred Setzer, and John Phythyon looked good at first base while Doug Johnson and Allan Hoffman were strong at second. Third basemen Don Vandenburg and Roy Kievit along with shortstops Steve Chappell and Jack Martin rounded out the infield. Experienced outfielders included Steve Johnson, Rooney Mereness, Howie Fogt, and Jim Pinnell aided by Doug Siebert and Charles Newman.

Last year's baseball team finished with a record of five wins and seven losses. The 1959 'Jacks hoped to better the previous year's record by bringing a championship to Oakwood. Opening the season on April 13, the ball club played Northridge.

Netters defend city championship

In 1949 Oakwood captured the city championship in tennis and have since won for ten straight years. During this remarkable string the net men have been undefeated in their last 81 city league matches. Mr. Hummon, the team's successful coach, again prepared his netters to defend their title in 1959.

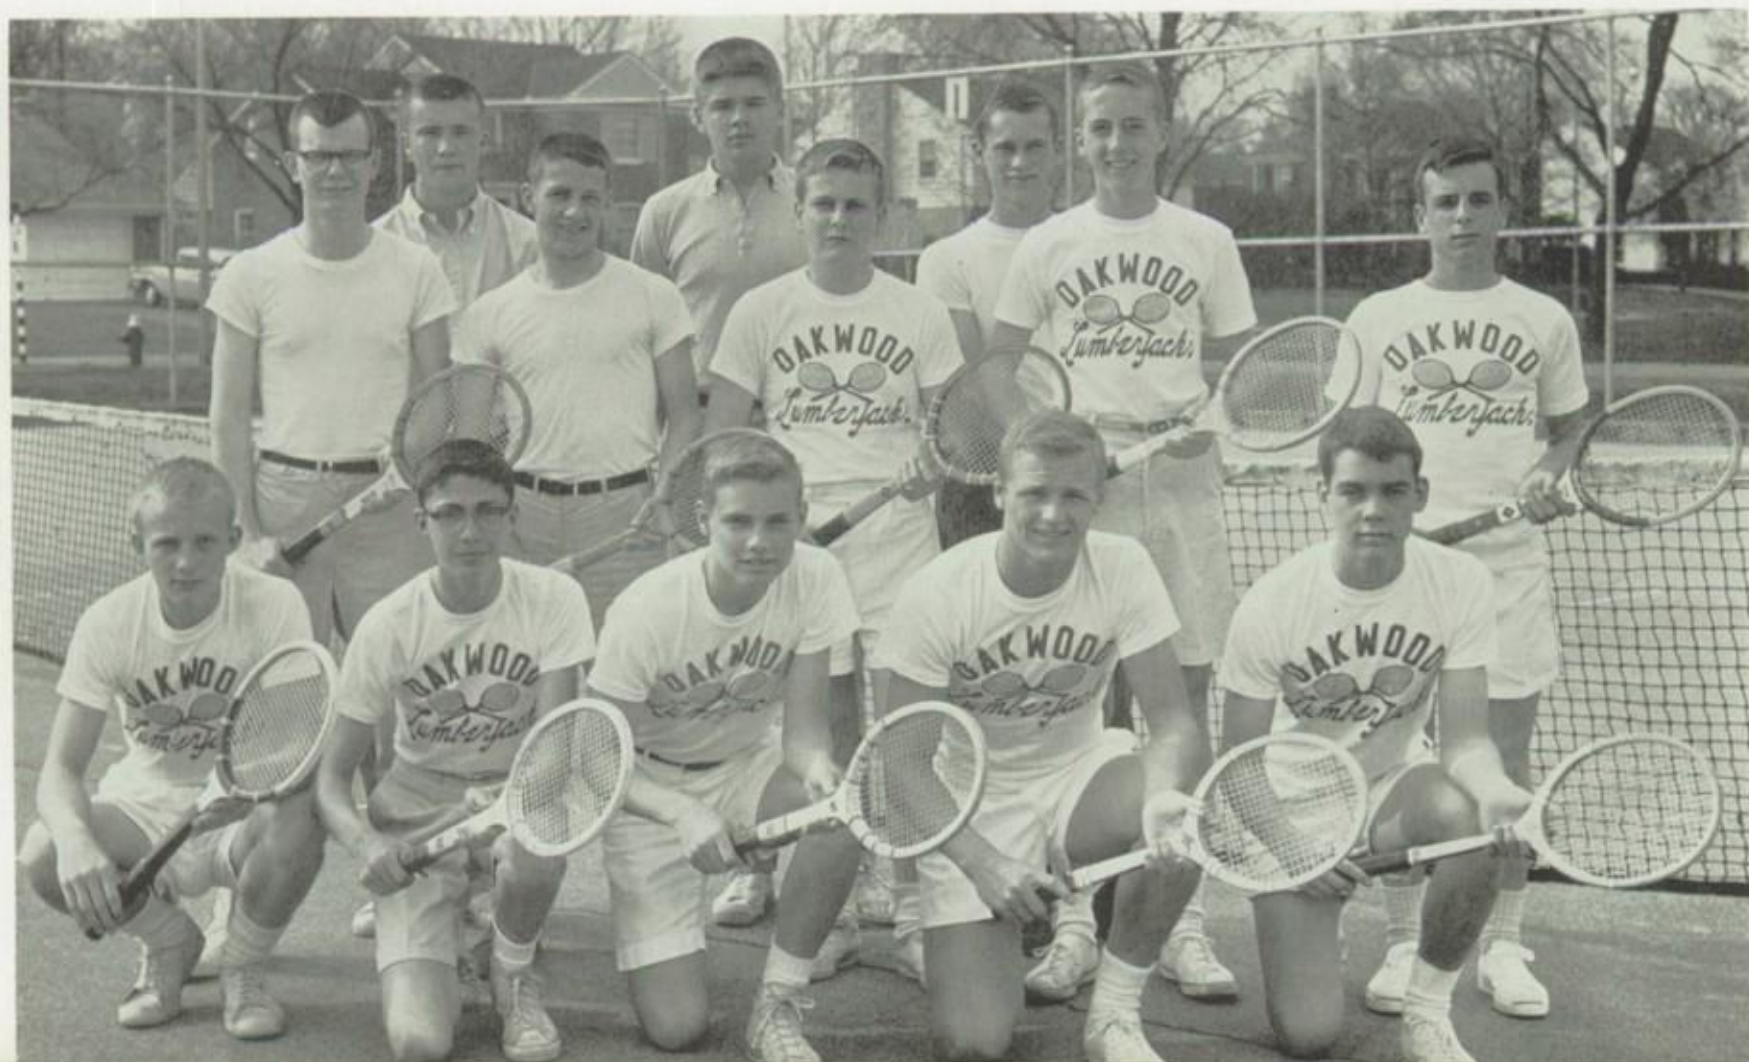

The tennis team was built around three returning lettermen—Dave Thomas, John Sisson, and Bruce Comisar. Seniors—Bill Kendell, Bob Crew and Tom Frame together with juniors—Phil Wagner, Bob Herbruck, Jim Hirsheimer, Dick Cammerer, Tim Cline, and Ron Kocher—were also relied on for action. Steve Powel, Peter Kuhns, and Mike Kander were sophomore hopefuls. Bolstering the attack further were freshmen—Bob Brundige and Bill Higgins.

In last year's district tournament Lauer and Thomas advanced to the quarter finals. This year the district was held on May 15, 16 with the state tourney in Columbus May 22, 23.

Junior High displays top potential

Amassing 226 points to their opponents 12, the Freshmen football team romped to an undefeated season. The powerful Frosh posted victories over West Milton, Trotwood, Fairborn, West Carrollton, O. S. S. O. Home, and Randolph. Mr. Carr, coach, produced many valuable prospects for next year's varsity.

The seventh and eighth grade gridders found their opposition invincible and failed to register a victory in five games. Coached by Mr. Reichert, the team made its lone score in the second game with West Carrollton. The other losses were to Beavercreek, Miamisburg, and O.S.S.O.

Hardcourt men continued the ninth grade victory string by registering 11 victories and no defeats. Mr. Armbruster coached the team which annihilated such potent city teams as Wilbur Wright and Fairborn. A 39-38 overtime victory over Chaminade highlighted the freshman's successful season.

The seventh and eighth grade basketball team was victorious in 8 contests while losing one. Their lone loss was to the Nicholas School. The team coached by Mr. Reichert, dumped West Carrollton, Van Buren, Randolph, Trotwood, and O.S.S.O. Home.

The outlook for spring sports was bright with a large group of athletes dominating junior high tennis and track. Nine meets were scheduled for the track team which was coached by Mr. Reichert. Fairborn and Van Buren headed the list of strong opponents. Cinderman looked best in the sprints with weaknesses in the field events. Miss Epstein coached the tennis team which gained much valuable experience. Middletown McKinley was the netters first opponent with matches against Middletown Roosevelt and Wyoming also scheduled.

Lumberjills carry on Oakwood's record

Practicing extra hours after school three days a week, running laps, and perfecting drives, passes, and dribbles under the coaching of Miss Epstein assisted by Mrs. Jones combined to give the Jills a winning season of five wins and two losses. Cutting the team to forty players was necessary this year as more than one hundred girls went out for hockey practice the first day.

The undefeated, unscored on reserves made a very spectacular record with a total for all the games of twenty points to their opponents' zero. With their drive and spirit they should prove tough competition next year.

Elected as managers for the year were Nancy Allen, Sue Scott, and Kathy Clegg. They not only arranged the team's schedule and kept the attendance records, but also acted as nurse, score and timekeeper.

Coach Epstein.

Although only seven seniors were on the team, their boundless energy and loyalty were invaluable.

Linda Anagnoston and Barbara Nichols were elected co-captains for the year. They stimulated interest among the girls during practices, chose sides, and decided the length of time for each game. Linda, who played a wing position, was hard to stop once she got started; and Barb, as center forward, was the most valuable scorer.

As defense players, Pam Miller, who backed up Linda, was side half; and Robin Alexander, guarding the inner, played fullback position.

Sue Young, always alert and ready, played the other wing position.

Although the team as a whole worked to prevent goals by the other team, goalies Karen Nielsen and Marve Ann Olsen were especially skilled at this.

Gym classes held outdoors in spring

As temperatures rose in spring, so did the spirits of the girls. Gym classes were taken outside and the girls had a choice of playing softball or working on track. Besides the games during gym, softball intramurals were formed this year. Running laps, doing exercises, racing in relays, and jumping hurdles were all parts of the track program. A track meet was scheduled so that girls from all grades could compete at the end of the year.

G. A. A. appointed Sue Scott, golf intramural chairman; Carol Kirgis, ping pong intramural chairman; Lynda Lydic, volleyball intramural chairman; and Adrienne Ash, tennis intramural chairman.

CINDY HARVEY and Jane Thiele learn the proper golf grip from Miss Epstein.

DINAH WALTERS and Vicki Walker take the hurdles with ease and grace.

SENIOR HIGH GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM: Abby Griffith, Sharon French, Donna Hinton, Judy Euchenhofer, Terry Taylor, Robin Alexander, Barb Nichols.

Tennis teams face tough competition

Barbara Nichols and Paula Stone were top players on the tennis teams again this year. Under the coaching of Miss Epstein, both teams practiced for their matches with Hamilton, Middletown, and Fairmont.

Terry Taylor, who played second singles, Donna Hinton, third singles player, and Robin Alexander and Judy Euchenhofer, first doubles team, returned from last year's senior high team. New members were Abby

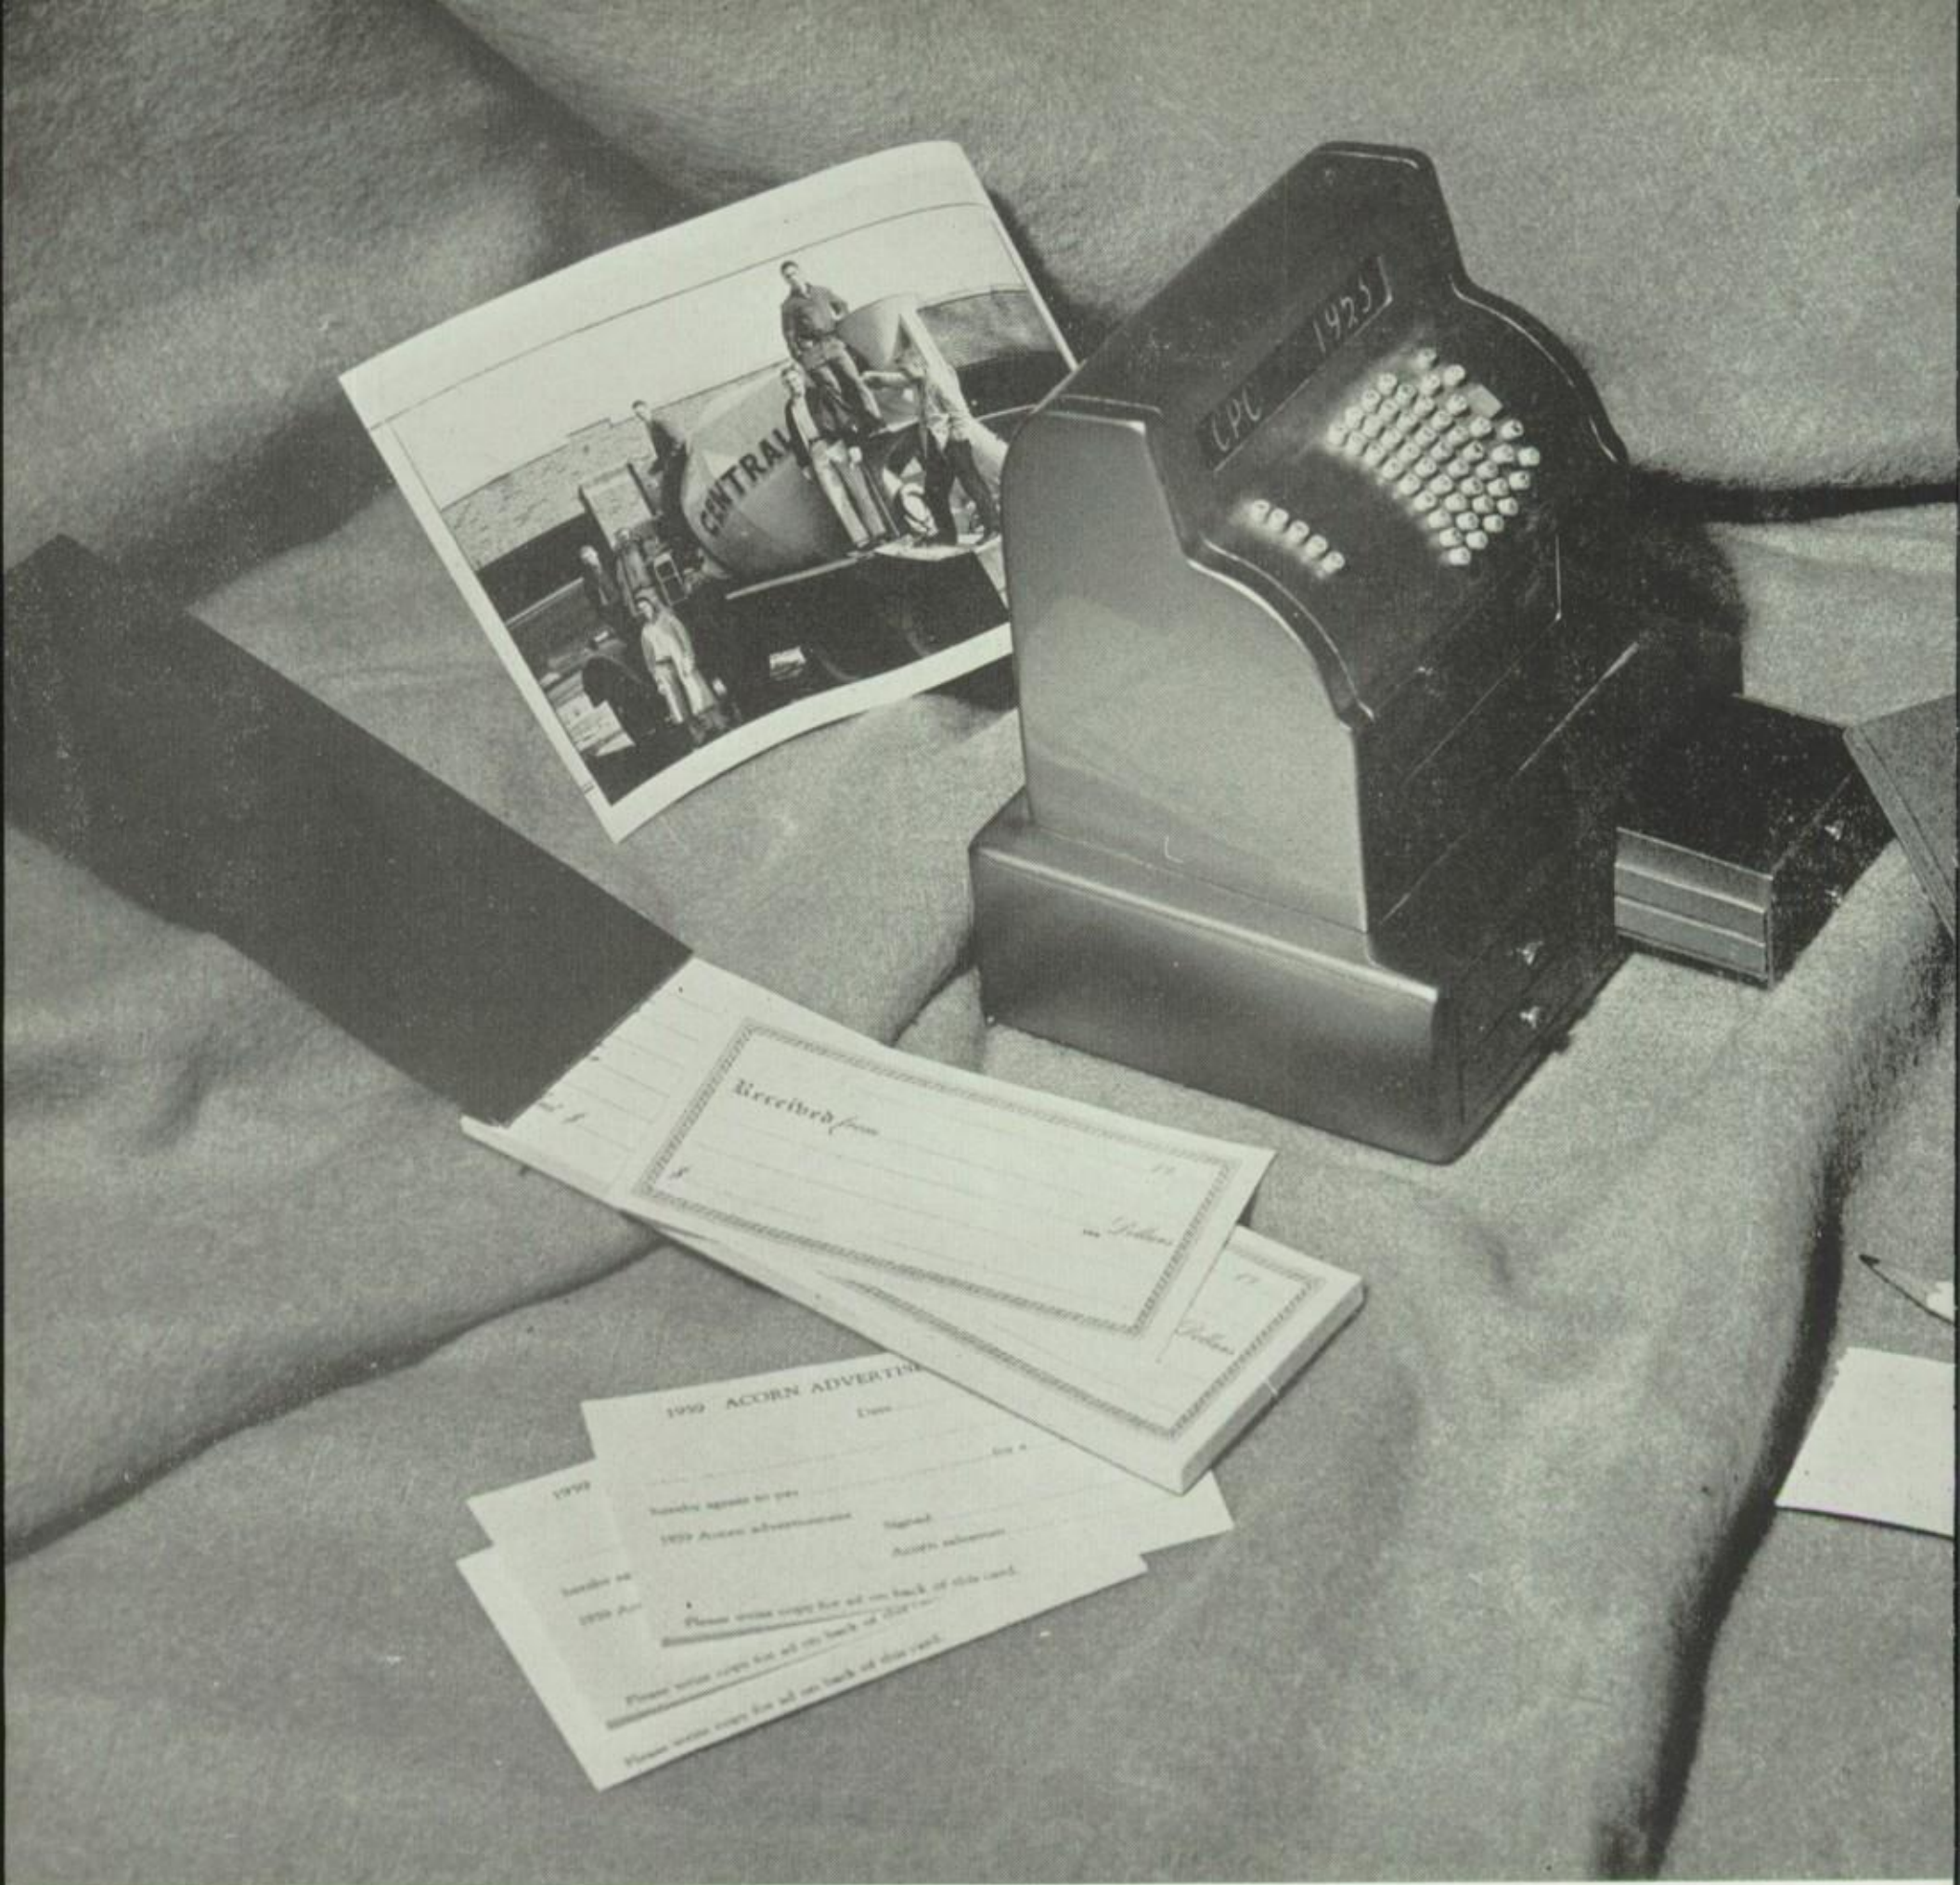

Griffith and Sharon French, the second doubles team.

For the junior high, Karen Alexander, Georgia Hassink, Terry Heitz, Lois Kievit, and Sarah Houston had played last year. Margot Herbruck and Cathy Calvert were newcomers to the squad.

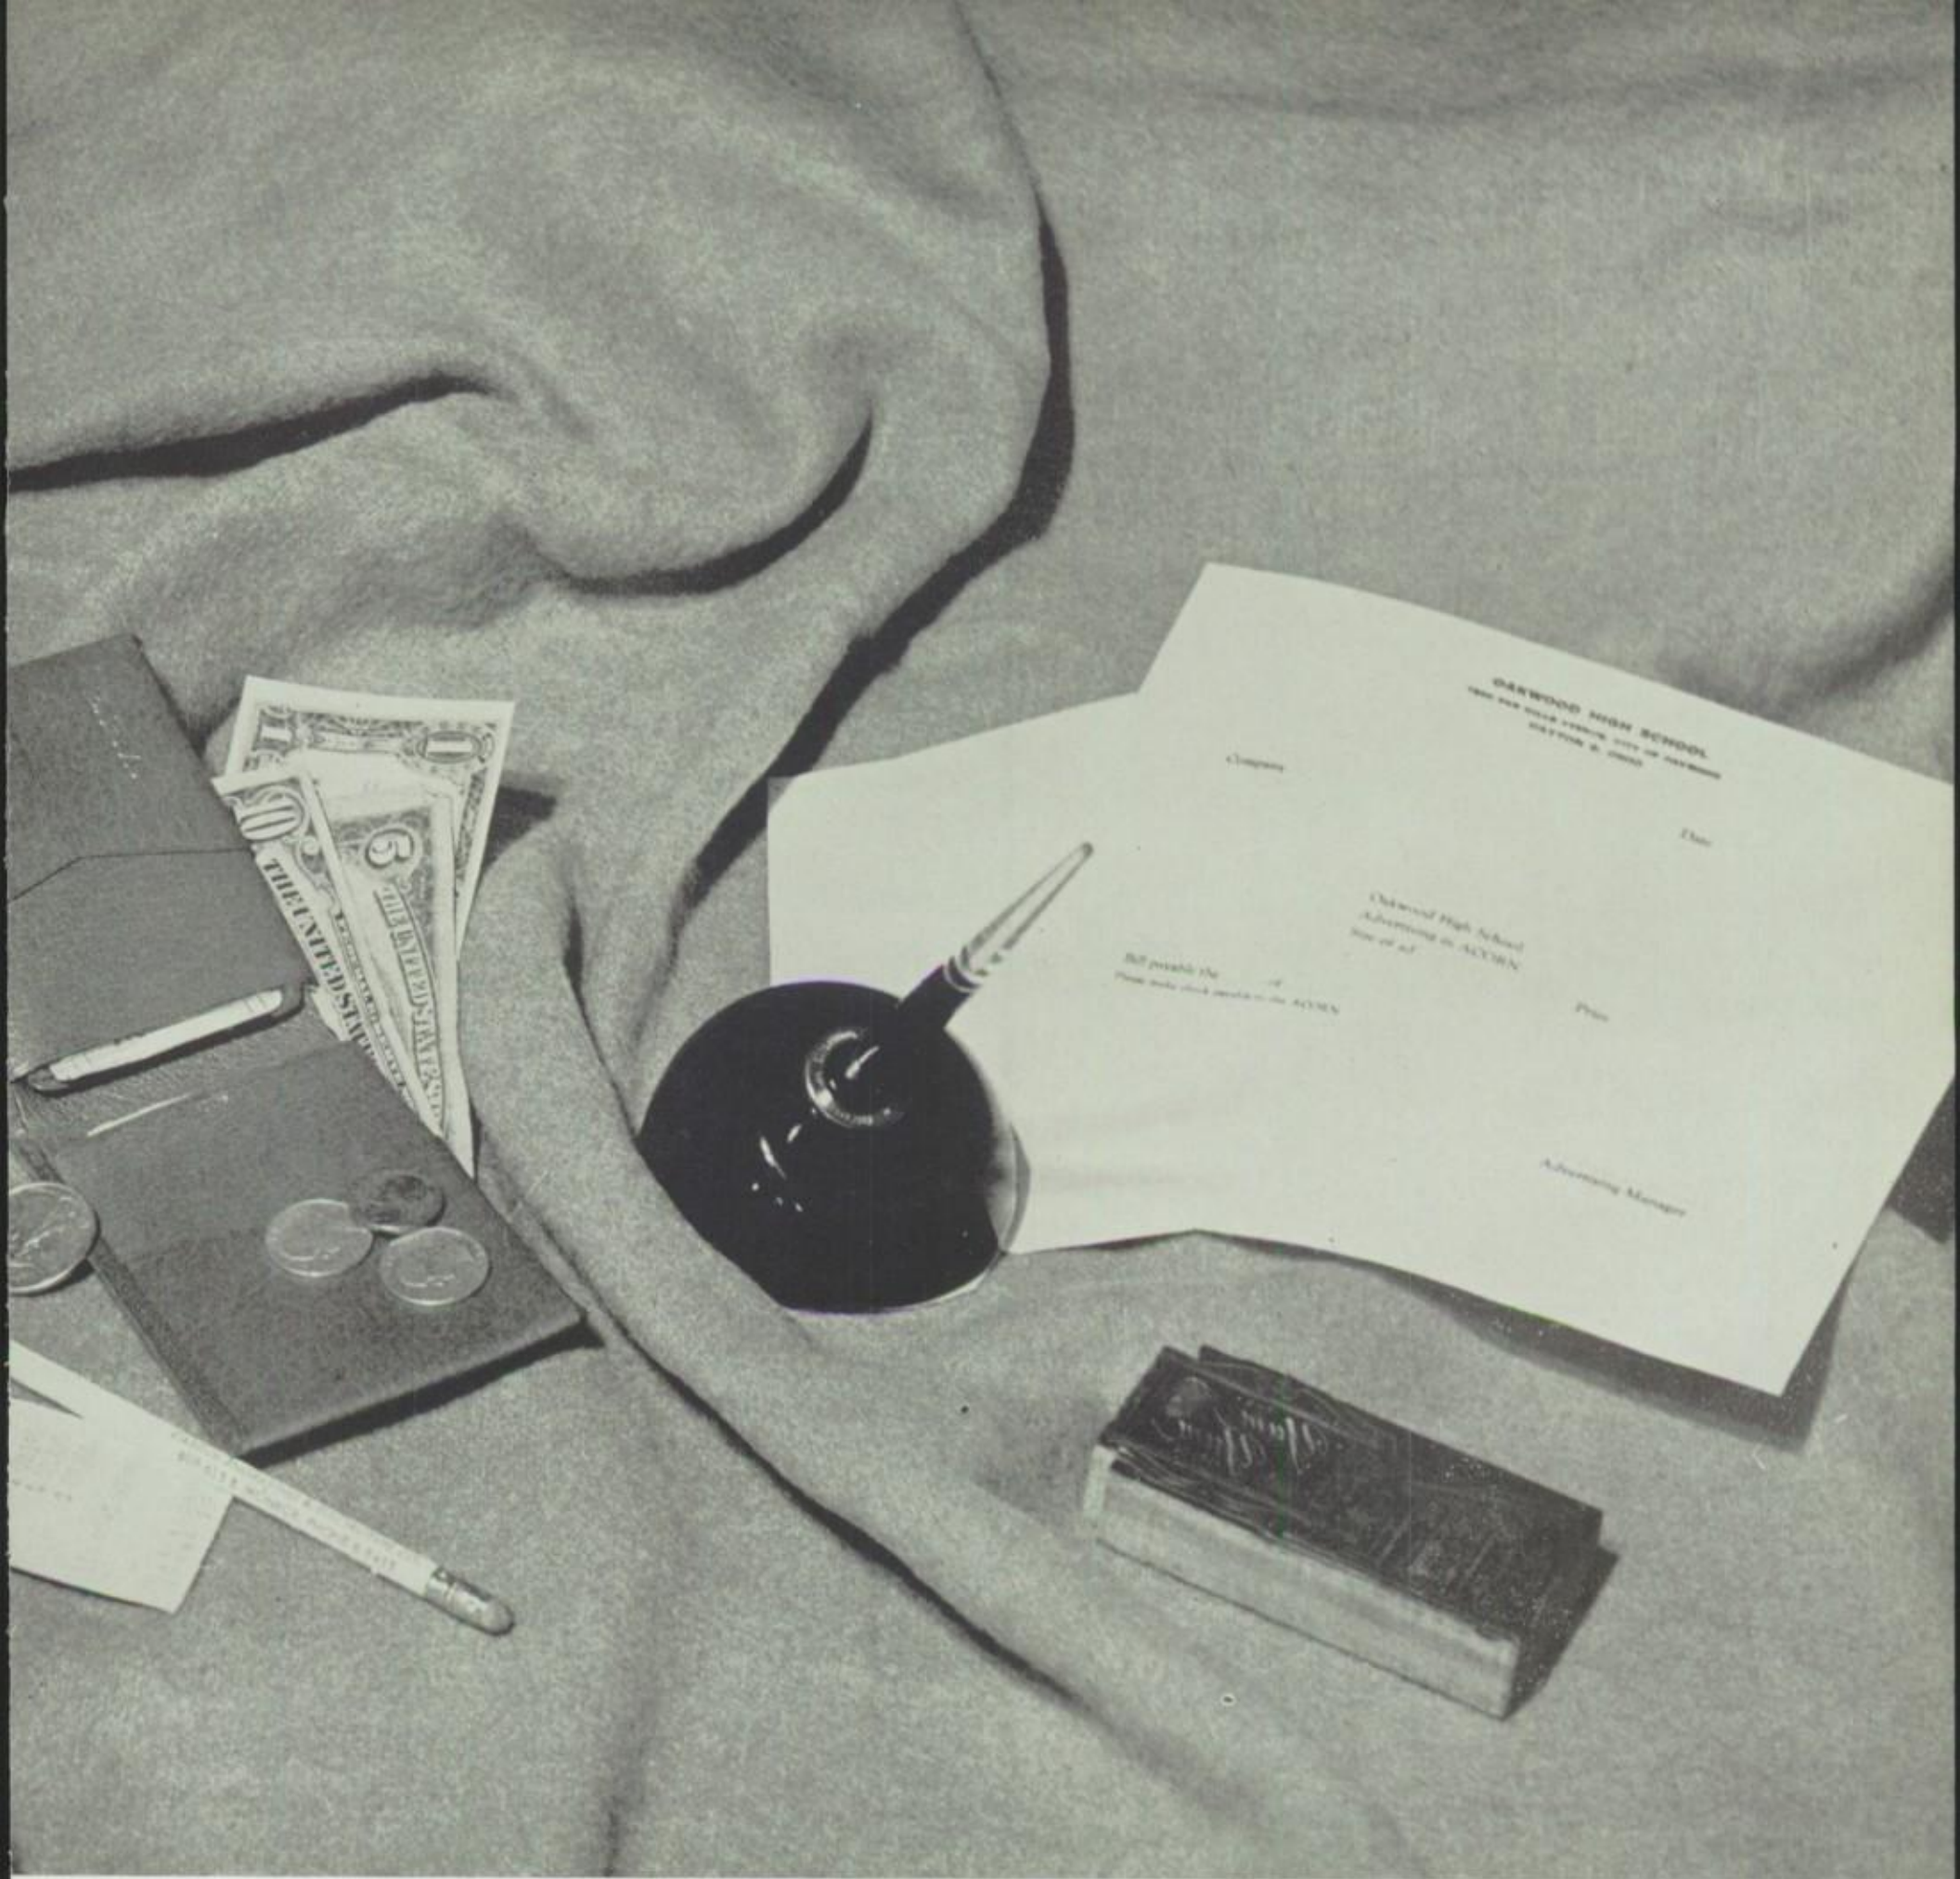

At the end of the season a picnic was held for the teams and letters were awarded.

JUNIOR HIGH GIRLS' TENNIS TEAM: Lois Kievit, Cathy Calvert, Karen Alexander, Paula Stone, Margot Herbruck, Terry Heitz, Georgia Hassink, and Sarah Houston are absent.
